EL PASO TO HAVE CITY BASEBALL LEAGUE DURING COMING SEASON

teams will make up the league, and three of the four teams are already organized and ready for business as soon as the weather gets through playing hide and seek with the north pole.

It is a junior league, is this new city league affair, but then the only way to have future big leagues is to have little ones and raise them by hand. "Mickie" Morgan is to be the Moses who is to lead amateur baseball out of the eactus in El Paso. He has been sitting up at nights figuring out the fine details of a drop hanger, make and break baseball league, and he has at last perfected his plans to the point of breaking into print, Magnate Morgan's plan is to have four teams composed of the Cubs, Tigers. East El Paso clab, and a fourth one either from the new troops at Fort Rliss, or from the El Paso foundry. "Mickey" talks of contracts, releases, trades and all of the other line of organized baseball talk, and he is cocked and primed for the 1910 senson. He has his eye on the old Country club grounds and the foundry and Fort Bliss grounds as the hattlefields of the city league where the championship of the sand hills of the future will be played.

Judge Tilman, the Head of the Standard Oil Co. Was In the City.

Judge Tilman, since the death of H. H. Rogers, the head of the Standard Oil company, remained in El Paso, while his wife, with a party of New York went in hi City of Mexico. While here he had an attack of La Grippe and Biliousness. Dr. Ira W. Collins, Physician in Chief of the Still Osteopathic Infirmary, was called in and restored him in such a short while that the Judge says he did for him in a few days what it took the specialist in New York usually a month to do. The Judge says the average specialists are horse doctors compared to Dr. Collins with his Osteopathy.

Since the great German physician de-cided the cause of the stomach trouble and cancer which led to the death of E. TRACK GAMBLERS GET A HARD BLOW

Ed. Keck, Picked to Win. Throwns His Backers at the Races Friday.

Ed Keck gave the gamblers at the Juarez track a hard blow Friday when he falled to run in the money after being played as a strong favorite. Keck looked fit when he went to the post and was doped to have all the class of the race. But the distance was too great for the Keck horse and he could even get in the money. utdoor sports and pastimes may be a subject of indifference to many of those who play in the popular games of today, nearly all such diversions have a really interesting history; and the fact that certain of these have, in the past, been the subjects of legislation, either encouraging or prohibitive, and have been the diversion of kings, courtiers and aristocrats, as well as of the humbler citizen and pensant, adds a certain dignity and interest to such games as they are played today. Ball games, in varied form, seem to have employed the sportive inclinations of ancient times as much as such games, under scientific regulations, employ the surplus of modern energy, and the manipulation of the wily and erratic sphere seems to have been as fashionable and fascinating then as now. Ancient physicians were in the habit of lickings, many people have "asked to prescribing a course of balls to their know" who started the basebati game patients where most modern doctors would likely prescribe pills, and in this point at least the ancient practice might be copied with advantage. The Greeks erected a statue to Aristonius for his skill in playing ball. But as to the ly bit of informatoin regarding this form of game in which he exceled, history is silent. One game of the an-cients was to throw the ball high in the air and strive to see who should catch it. This perhaps is the most primitive of all ball games mentioned in history, and it may easily be determined why it did not survive. But to enumerate and describe all such games, together with a review of their history and progress, would require a vol-ume in itself. Let us, therefore, pass to a brief notice of the probable origin of the few leading games that have survived and become so large a part of the beneficial enjoyment and recreation of the present day.

The habit we players have drifted into of constantly playing matches when they first commence the game, joined to an ever present desire to always outdrive the other fellow, has gone a great way toward helping to win their game. Had they gone out and given some serious attention to practicing, with a view of acquiring good form, instead of playing round after round with a friend, each one pressing at every tee shot to try and outdistance the other, great improvement would have shown itself. This practice should be under the eye of a professional, so as to acquire good, free, easy style, yet with a determined stroke, instead of the loose, slashing style one sees so much of here. Too much importance is really atslashing away trying to drive 250 yards straight away, instead of devoting more and attractive method of dispatching the ball. Our payers should try and cultivate an easier, more self contained style which, when once achieved, will the length of their drives will not suffer, but, if anything will be improved, sald, be far better, thus making the game easier. there has been considerable controversy that I will give all the help possil going on as to the nationality of James Johnson for the heavyweight championship of the world July next. Owing to der 112 pounds, still I believe that is the prominence of the two men and the right, for under that weight they are fact that Jeffries is endeavoring to win not able to stand a hard fight and I fact that Jeffries is endeavoring to win back the championship to the white race, it is interesting to know all about the man at the present time. It is well known that Jeffries was born in a small town named Carroll, O., April 15, 1875, and is the son of a prominent minister of that place. As to his nationality, Jeff comes from the good old Scotch stock on hi, father's side and Dutch on his before a contest is about right." mother's side.

Both of his parents were born in this country and even bis grandparents were. His mother came from the old Pennsylvenia Dutch which were among the early arrivals in the east, while his fathet's parents were from the Highlands of Scotland. His father's people settled in the south, his father in later years settling in thie. While Jeffries does not appear to be as tall as Johnson, still the fact remains that he is one and a hulf

The difference is probably not so no ticeable owing to the fact that Jeff possesses a massive pair of shoulders and probably does not carry himself quite as erect as Johnson. As to their weight, there will not be a great deal of difference as Jeffries at the present time scales about 220 pounds and Johnson about 215 pounds. Jeffries will train down to about 215 pounds for the fight, while Johnson will probably scale around 200 and possibly 205 pounds.

Battling Nelson, the lightweight champion, has not been making a hit with some of the promoters the past week or two, although in some respects the Dane was right in his contentions, It seems that Nelson had signed up with Sid Hester, of San Francisco, to box Wolgast there in a 45 round go for the championship. Nelson was to receive $12,000 for his end, while Wolgast was to be secured for whatever Hester could get him. Wolgast had been offered, as Nelson claims, $2500 by Tom McCarey, of Los Angeles, who afterwards raised Earl D. Whorley, of the St. Louis it to $3500. Hester boosted this amount branch of the B. F. Goodrich company, manufacturers of Goodrich tires, was held the full hand and refused to budge, claiming that the fight would take place at Frisco or Wolgast would get no chance at all for the championship. As a result the bout fell through and now the promoters are casting about for a It is said that Tom McClarey is endeavoring to match up Wolgast with Freddy Welsh, the English champion, which by the way will be a cracking good contest if it is arranged. Nelson also received an offer of a $20,000 purse to meet Welsh in England, but declined unless he could get $23,000 for his end. That is what he received practically when he fought Joe Gans at Goldfield, No one can blame Nelson for getting all the money possible for he has met some very hard propositions during his career, but at the same time he must that Weish as champion Great Britain cannot be placed in the same class as some of the outsiders and is, therefore, entitled to consideration as well as the Battler.

The fact, is Welsh has offered to meet give him a side bet if he wants it. This shows conclusively that the little forhis chance with the champion. It is too bad that Welsh and Nelson cannot be brought together in an international year. V. K. Sturges has bought a Na- match for it would prove almost as big tional 46 horse power racer for local a card as the one between Jeffries and Johnson.

If they do, there will be nothing doing in the lightweight championship division until they return and it is possible there will be a new champion when they do return, providing, of course, Nelson arranges any matches with the quartet while over there.

> It is a long way to go for a championship battle when there are such good purses to be had in this country and so many aspiring lightweights to pick from. Tom Jones, manager of Wolgast,

The efforts that have been made, both in this country and England, to bring boxers, and to establish an international board of control, seem to be meeting finally brought about the light heavy-with considerable success. Letters were recently sent out from this office to any for the middleweight class and just a rious promoters about the country ask-ing for their views on the subject. The man and myself had a match in view for following reply was received from Thomas Walsh, who is managing the West Side Athletic club at New Orienns:
"My Dear Andrews: Your letter received a few days ago and I am pleased to know that you are trying to help along the proposition to establish a board of surrous that I am sure will help help help along the proposition to establish a board of surrous that I am sure will help help help to the surrous that I am sure will help help before the surrous that I am sure will help help help to the surrous that I am sure will help help help to the surrous that I am sure will help help help to the surrous that I am sure will help help help to the surrous that I am sure will help help help to the surrous that I am sure will help help to the surrous that the surrous th control that I am sure will help boxing. supposing that he had originated the it is something have been thinking idea, but the claim of Houseman and about for a long time and now that it myself antedated that of Coffroth."

Milwaukee, Wis., Jan. 15 .- Of late has been started you can rest assured Jeffries, who is matched to meet Jack and it will give almost everybody a chance. You don't allow for boys unthink it is just as well that the paper weight be placed at 112 pounds. I cannot suggest any changes in the weights at present—they look to be about right, but I would say that a standard time for weighing in should be made and that it should not be ringside-I think that at least two hours or perhaps four hours

Harry Lewis, the Philadelphia welterweight, who was to have sailed last week for Paris for his match with Willie Lewis, of New York, will have a hard battle on his hands before leaving. He is matched to fight 10 rounds with Howard Baker, the Colorado welterweight, before the Denver Athletic club. Baker has made a very good reputation for himself the past year and from all accounts will give Lewis a hard run for the money. However, as the distance is short Lewis will be able by his cleverness, to outpoint the husky western lad to leave for France with another victory to his credit

Harry has been gaining weight of late and finds it difficult to keep down to the weiterweight limit, and that is probably the reason he is giving away some of his weight to Willie Lewis in their coming battle in France. Jimmy Clabby, the Milwaukee welterweight, has been after Harry Lewis for a match for the past three months and had posted a forfeit of $1000 as a guarantee of good faith and to go as a side bet. Lewis evidently did not want Clabby's game for he never replied to the challenge although he was well aware that the forfelt was up. The chances are that Clab-by will have to ge to Europe if he wants to get on a match with Lewis, within the next year.

Frank Klaus, the Phtsburg middle-weight, who has made such a good showing the past year against such men as Billy Papke. Hugh McGann, Harry Lewis and others, has been mapping out a busy season for himself, but unfortunntely was obliged to postpone a bout a week ago on account of a slight illness. His manager says: "Klaus is boxing like a champion these days and I have great hopes for his future. We have offers from Boston and will prob-ably arrange a contest there in the near future. Klaus is to box Jim Gardner in Boston. He met Joe Thomas in Philadelphia, but the bout was not what it should have been owing to the fact that beat Porky Flynn in every round of their contest at Boston and made a great hit with the crowd. He seemed to get better as the fight progressed and de Flynn look rather cheap.

Frank is at present time around 150 pounds, but he has been fighting men much heavier. In the future I intend to keep him near his own weight for I believe he can beat any man in the him for the championship of the world at 154 pounds and will put a side bet of The fact, is Weish has offered to meet any amount (the middleweight limit is Nelson and make it winner take all and 158 pounds). I would also like to get on a match with Hugo Kelly, of Chi-cago. I was sorry that the fight at Mrs. E. M. Soden has purchased a new eigner is not looking for any the best New Orieans with Kelly fell through for model "20" Bulck through the C. A. of the bargain, but is willing to take I believed Klaus would be able to beat I believed Klaus would be able to heat him in a contest of 20 rounds. Just keep your eye on him and you will see a new middleweight champion inside of an-other year. He will beat Papke the next time they meet.

> The two Kilbane boys, Tommy and Johnny, who hail from Cleveland, O., are having a hard time to determine which is the better featherweight of the two. They have met four times in the ring and twice Tommy has been declared the to Johnny. Tommy won the first con-test in January, 1908, but lost again on March 28 of the same year. He also won over Johnny in a short bout and the other night they came together for the fourth time, Johnny getting the de-cision at the end of a 25 round contest. Johnny is a little lighter than Tommy and has shown exceptionally good form of late. They are not related to each other in any way and have been bitter rivals for the past two years. There is talk of holding another long contest in private somewhere near Cleveland in the near future to decide the championship between the two boys.

A statement was made in the London Sporting Life, some time ago, that Jas. AFINE INDOOR SPORT! SCOTT!

The Spaniard likes to get a bull where he can prod and kick it; the blooming Briton's heart is full of glee when playing cricket; Norwegians skate o'er frozen pools, and seem to love such labors; the French are fond of fighting dools with little wooden sabres. Canadians, both boys and girls, are fancy skaters, always; the canny Scotchman goes and curls-but not his hair or galways. The Russian's notion of delight suggests a lot of dangers; he likes to heave some dynamite among a crowd of strangers. In South America the game is jacking up a ruler; they like to camp upon his frame and slam him in the cooler. The man from China washes shirts, or toils as cook or stoker, and then at night he weirdly flirts with heathen brands of poker. Where'er you go, it's all the same; in winter or in summer, each nation has its little game, and thinks it is a hummer. The Danes alone have something droll, and new, up to the minute; they call the game: "Who's got the pole?" There's much amusement in it.
